Each response should be answered with specificity. A reference to a company website, general policy or terms of service would not be an appropriate response. You may supplement your response with a reference to a specific page of a website, but this may not replace a specific response.

3. Does the data broker permit a consumer to opt out of the data broker's collection of brokered personal information,² opt out of its databases, or opt out of certain sales of data? Required.

Yes No

If so:

- a. What is the method for requesting an opt-out? DataX Ltd provides consumer credit reports to its business customers who have a permissible purpose under the Fair Credit Reporting Act ("FCRA"). DataX receives brokered personal information and account receivables information from a variety of data furnishers that provide information about the consumer's payment history with the data furnishers. Consumers may not opt out of the credit reporting system completely, but they do have the right to opt out of prescreening (as described below) and they have the right to place a security freeze on their credit report that will prevent access to their credit report except for the allowed exceptions under the state security freeze laws.

DataX provides information to certain customers, including lenders, so that these customers may offer pre-approved offers to consumers as permitted by the FCRA. If the consumer prefers not to receive such offers, they may visit www.dataxlt.com or call toll free 1-800-295-4790. A consumer may also send their request in writing to: DataX Ltd, 325 E. Warm Springs Rd., Suite 202, Las Vegas, NV 89119 and should include their complete name, full address, Social Security number, and signature. DataX places an opt-out flag in the DataX Credit Reporting Database to prevent consumers from being included in prescreen offers.

- b. If the opt-out applies to only certain activities or sales, which ones? Please see response to 3.a. above.
- c. Does the data broker permit a consumer to authorize a third party to perform the opt-out on the consumer's behalf? Generally, DataX would only allow a third party to perform the opt-out on behalf of the consumer if the third party provides a valid power of attorney or other documentation evidencing his or her authority to act on behalf of the consumer.

4. Provide a statement specifying the data collection, databases, or sales activities from which a consumer may not opt out: Required.

See responses to Item 3 above. Under the FCRA, the consumer does not have the ability to opt-out of the credit reporting process. Any DataX customer with whom the consumer does business will report its payment experience with the consumer to DataX. DataX provides consumer credit report information from its credit reporting database to its customers as allowed by the FCRA.

DataX also has a database containing various elements of brokered personal information, such as credit header data and similar brokered personal information obtained in connection with its credit reporting database, which it receives from its data furnishers, end-users, and third party data providers. This information may be sold to customers and other resellers who certify that it will only be used for a purpose consistent with the requirements of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act ("GLB"), such as fraud prevention.

5. Provide a statement regarding whether the data broker implements a purchaser credentialing process: Required.

DataX has robust credentialing requirements for new customers. Although requirements may vary based upon the type of business, the general procedure is that upon submission of the completed application for service, a prospective customer's business is verified by confirming their business license or other professional license, validating their Federal Employer Identification Number, and by reviewing the business's website (if available) to confirm the nature of their business activity and to confirm that the customer has a valid permissible purpose in accordance with applicable law. The customer's physical location may also be verified through an on-site inspection or other means as appropriate.

DataX may receive information from its data furnishers on minors. DataX does not knowingly provide credit reports on minors under 16 to its customers, but if the minor's age or date of birth are not accurately provided by the data furnisher, it is possible that a minor's credit report could be created within the database. DataX will allow the parent or guardian of a minor to place a security freeze on the minor's credit file upon receipt of a valid power of attorney or other documentation specifying guardianship as provided under the protected consumer state security freeze laws.

³"Security breach" means unauthorized acquisition of, electronic data or a reasonable belief of an unauthorized acquisition of, electronic data that compromises the security, confidentiality or integrity of a consumer's personally identifiable information maintained by a data collector. "Security breach" does not include good faith but unauthorized acquisition of personally identifiable information by an employee or agent of the data collector for a legitimate purpose of the data collector; provided that the personally identifiable information is not used for a purpose unrelated to the data collector's business or subject to further unauthorized disclosure. In determining whether personally identifiable information has been acquired or is reasonably believed to have been acquired by a person without valid authorization, a data collector may consider the following factors, among others: indications that the information is in the physical possession and control of a person without valid authorization, such as a lost or stolen computer or other device containing information; indications that the information has been downloaded or copied; indications that the information was used by an unauthorized person, such as fraudulent accounts opened or instances of identity theft reported; or that the information has been made public. 9 V.S.A. § 2430(12).
