<sup>1</sup> "Data broker" means a business, or unit or units of a business, separately or together, that knowingly collects and sells or licenses to third parties the brokered personal information of a consumer with whom the business does not have a direct relationship. Examples of a direct relationship with a business include if the consumer is a past or present customer, client, subscriber, user, or registered user of the business's goods or services; employee, contractor, or agent of the business; investor in the business; or donor to the business. The following activities conducted by a business, and the collection and sale or licensing of brokered personal information incidental to conducting these activities, do not qualify the business as a data broker: developing or maintaining third-party e-commerce or application platforms; providing 411 directory assistance or directory information services, including name, address, and telephone number, on behalf of or as a function of a telecommunications carrier; providing publicly available information related to a consumer's business or profession; or providing publicly available information via real-time or near-real-time alert services for health or safety purposes. The phrase "sells or licenses" does not include: a one-time or occasional sale of assets of a business as part of a transfer of control of those assets that is not part of the ordinary conduct of the business; or a sale or license of data that is merely incidental to the business. 9 V.S.A. § 2430(4).

<sup>2</sup> "Brokered personal information" means one or more of the following computerized data elements about a consumer, if categorized or organized for dissemination to third parties: name; address; date of birth; place of birth; mother's maiden name; unique biometric data generated from measurements or technical analysis of human body characteristics used by the owner or licensee of the data to identify or authenticate the consumer, such as a fingerprint, retina or iris image, or other unique physical representation or digital representation of biometric data; name or address of a member of the consumer's immediate family or household; Social Security number or other government-issued identification number; or other information that, alone or in combination with the other information sold or licensed, would allow a reasonable person to identify the consumer with reasonable certainty. "Brokered personal information" does not include publicly available information to the extent that it is related to a consumer's business or profession. 9 V.S.A. § 2430(1).

<sup>3</sup> "Security breach" means unauthorized acquisition of, electronic data or a reasonable belief of an unauthorized acquisition of, electronic data that compromises the security, confidentiality or integrity of a consumer's personally identifiable information maintained by a data collector. "Security breach" does not include good faith but unauthorized acquisition of personally identifiable information by an employee or agent of the data collector for a legitimate purpose of the data collector; provided that the personally identifiable information is not used for a purpose unrelated to the data collector's business or subject to further unauthorized disclosure. In determining whether personally identifiable information has been acquired or is reasonably believed to have been acquired by a person without valid authorization, a data collector may consider the following factors, among others: indications that the information is in the physical possession and control of a person without valid authorization, such as a lost or stolen computer or other device containing information; indications that the information has been downloaded or copied; indications that the information was used by an unauthorized person, such as fraudulent accounts opened or instances of identity theft reported; or that the information has been made public. 9 V.S.A. § 2430(12).
